The user enters their email address and password at the sign in screen.

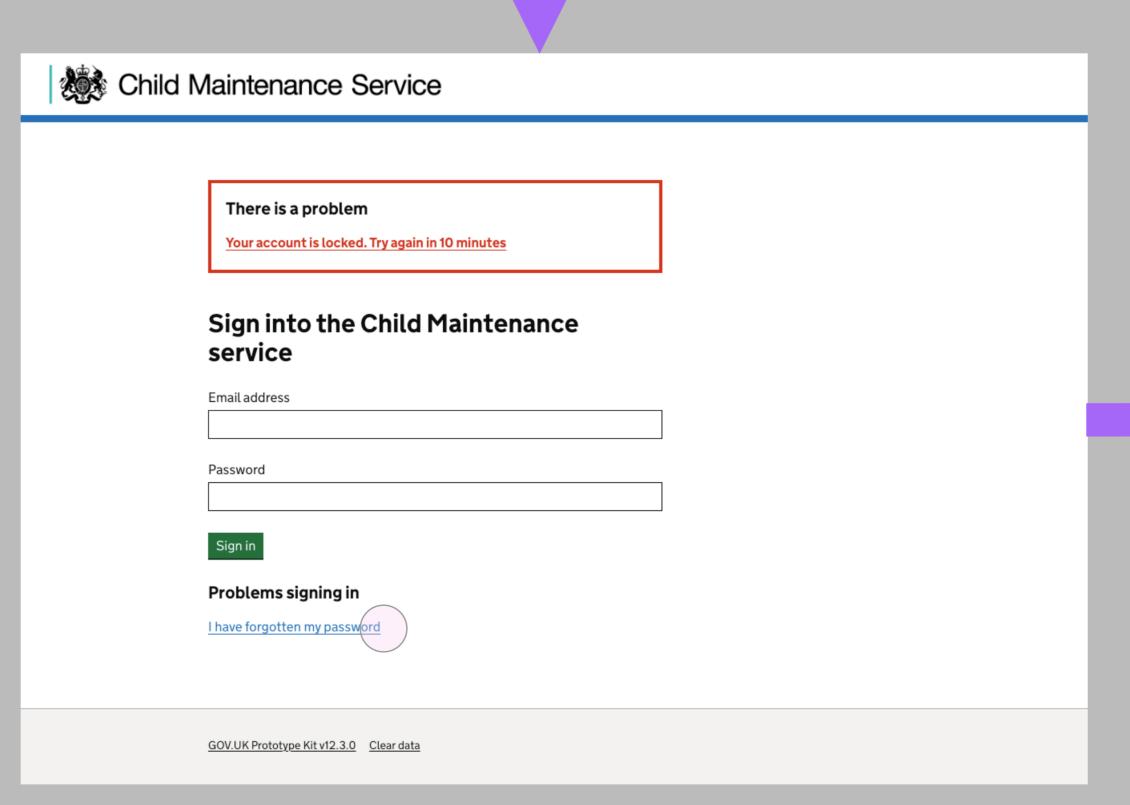

The password is entered incorrectly. The error messages are not specific to the incorrect data input.

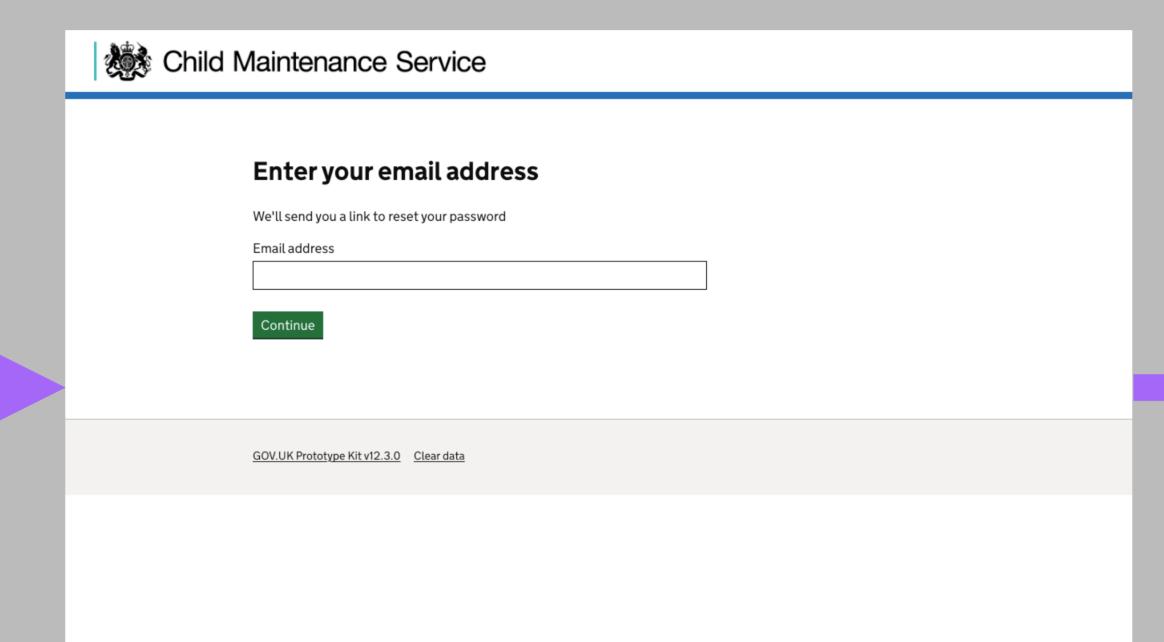

After 10 incorrect attempts this screen is displayed to the user.

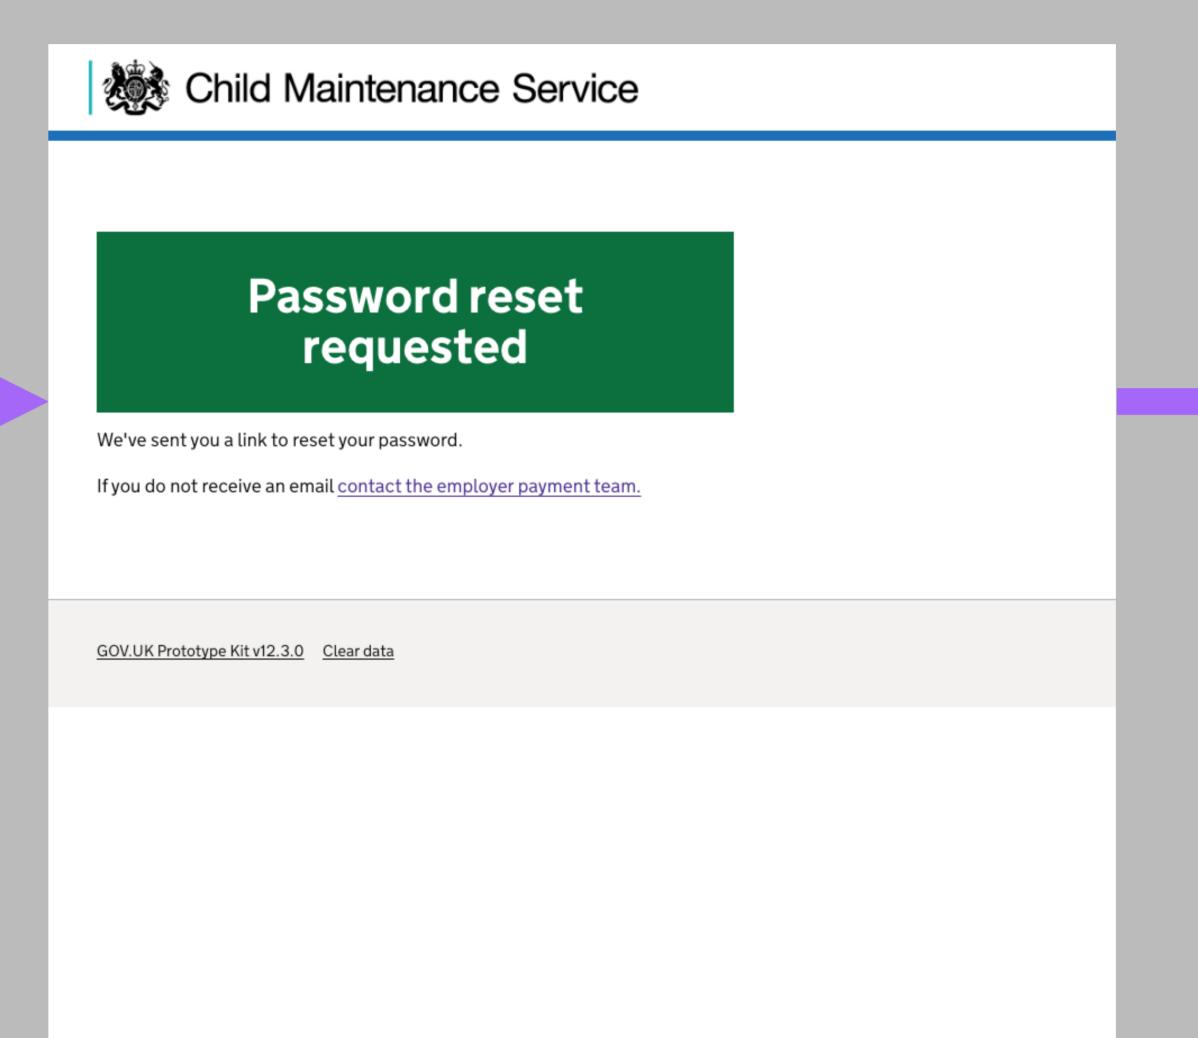

If the user clicks the back link they will go back to the sign in page with a message about their account being locked for 10 minutes.

The user clicks the link 'I have forgotten my password' and this page is displayed to enter their email address.

The user receives a conformation message when they entered their email address and clicked 'continue'.

The user continues with the 'Password' reset journey.